Said Ford to Tunney,
"Go Preach."
China, Japan and War.
Mediate, No, Thanks.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.

THEODORE, king of the upstairs dining room of New York's Ritz-Carton, was pleased Tuesday, having a variegated clientele to appreciate his complicated menu.

Three men sat at one table, and one, as big as the three put together, at another table. The three and the one caused much twisting of necks.

THE big one was Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion. The three were Henry Ford, just back from Europe, his son, Edsel Ford, and Gaston Plantiff, Ford manager in the east.

FORD, his piercing gray eyes making him look like an American eagle, surprised Tunney when he wandered over to that gentleman's table. Instead of asking, "What do you think of the next fight?" Ford said: Mr. Tunney, you ought to be a preacher. What young people need today is good advice and a good example.

"The young admit physical power and pay scant attention to the most brilliant preacher, if he happens to be small and weak."

"They would listen to anything you might say. You set an example of physical living and have the splendid physical condition that young people admire. Think it over."

"They tell me that in one fight you earned as much as a million dollars.
After one or two millions, more won't do you any good; only worry you. Try preaching."

MR. TUNNEY, who looks like a blond, tall, wide mountain compared with Mr. Ford, promised to think about it seriously, muttering, under his breath, from Hamlet, "His form and cause, conjoined, preaching to stones, would make them capable."
Ford, after luncheon, went with his son and Mr. Plantiff to inspect his plant in Long Island City across the Fifty-ninth street bridge.

OHIO ORATOR IS ON HIS WAY TO TROY TEST

Delbert Eugene Nixon,
Buckeye Champ Starts
Eastern Invasion.

SPEAKS TOMORROW

Seven States Will be Represented in Zone
Meeting.

CANTON, O., May 10.—Delbert Eugene Nixon, 18-year-old Toronto high school senior, and all Ohio oratorical champion, accompanied by an official of his school and a representative of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, left for Troy, N. Y., today to engage in a seven-state competition against ten young men and women for the privilege of representing the northeast section of the United States in the National Oratorical Contest.

The Troy contest is tomorrow evening.

Winner at Troy not only becomes a national oratorical finalist, but will be included in a party of eight high school students representative of the entire nation, which will be taken for an eleven weeks' tour of Europe this summer.

The National Oratorical Contest finals will be presented May 25 in Washington, D. C., where five of the seven judges of the United States supreme court will decide the competition. The national winner will represent the United States next October in Washington in the International Oratorical Contest, when representatives of seven foreign countries will compete.

Young Nixon displayed the same serene confidence today on the eve of his departure for Troy that was noticeable in Canton two weeks ago
on the eve of the all-Ohio competition, which he won by virtually an unanimous decision of the three judges. He received two first place awards, and one third.

There will be ten young men and women competing at Troy. Massachusetts will have two and New York state three contenders, while the other states will have one each. The states to be represented, other than

HERRON MURDER STORY TOLD JURY

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., May 10.—
The confession of William Herron, on trial for the murder of his sister-in-law, Viola May, last February, was today introduced in court by the state over objections of defense attorneys.
Herron's confession, alleged to have been made to Sheriff Abe Laird, of Tuscarawas county, and witnessed by Dr. Paul J. Albaugh, jail physician, admitted that he had choked Miss May during an argument over his attentions to her on a night automobile ride.

The confession was introduced today while Sheriff Laird, who conducted the investigation into Miss May's death, was on the stand.

SPENT NO MONEY
IN DEM FIGHT

"I Haven't Any Plans
About Houston Convention," he Testifies
as he Smokes Fat Cigar.

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Contributions to the Governor Smith-for-President campaign total $103,316 and the biggest individual contributor is William F. Kenny, a Brooklyn contractor, who contributed $70,000, of which $50,000 was a loan, it was testified here today before senate committee investigating campaign expenditures.
The testimony was given by George R. Van Nammee, a public service commissioner, in charge of Smith's campaign in New York state.

New York, May 10.—Governor Alfred E. Smith testified before the senate committee investigating campaign fund expenditures today that he had authorized no one to act as chairman or treasurer of any national campaign fund in his behalf. He said he understood that some of his friends in New York city had started a Smith presidential boom but he personally had "done nothing about it."

The governor said that any money spent in his behalf in New York City could be explained by George R. Van Nammee. Personally, the governor had taken no active interest in the finances of friends who had interested themselves in his behalf.

The governor smoked a cigar as he testified.

Senator Steiwer, Republican, of Oregon, the chairman of the committee, then questioned the governor.
First he read a telegram to the committee from Governor Smith dated May 3 in which Smith said he had authorized no one to act as a national chairman or treasurer of any Smith organization.

"I know of no activities in any state beyond New York. In New York a committee of friends have interest themselves in my behalf. Mr. Van Nammee can explain what expenditures they have incurred. I personally do not know."

"Have you done anything about your candidacy in other states?" Steiwer asked.

"I have not done anything—even in New York City," the governor replied.

May Not Go to Houston.

Governor Smith told Senator Steiwer he had made no effort today securing the Democratic presidential nomination and was unaware of organizations in various states in his behalf.

"What have you done about contesting delegates for the Houston convention?" Senator Steiwer asked.
"I haven't any plans about the Houston convention," replied the governor. "I don't know even whether I am going to Houston."

"Are you contributing any money yourself to your presidential campaign?"

"Nope," answered the governor.
"Have you made any promises of patronage in connection with your campaign?"

"Nope."

DEATH REVEALS IDENTITY OF CITY HOSPITAL RADIO DONOR

W. W. Harker Gave
$1,100 Set for Patients.

HAS 60 OUTLETS

Manufacturer Insisted Upon Secrecy in Making Gift.

Identity of the donor of a $1,100
radio set, installed in the City hospital about four years ago, was made known today following the death of William W. Harker, pottery manufacturer and retired bank officer, who succumbed at his home, East Third and College streets Monday.

When Mr. Harker, whose funeral services were held here this afternoon, made the gift to the hospital, he obtained a promise from C. R.
Boyce, president of the board of trustees, through whom the offer was made, that his name should be held in confidence. Not until after Mr.
Harker's death, and then only with the permission of members of his immediate family, was the name of the contribution revealed.

In 1924 the president of the board of trustees conceived the idea of a radio in the hospital for the comfort of convalescent patients who had no means of entertainment except for the call of friends or by reading.
While radios in hospitals now are not uncommon the plan was an innovation at that time. It was proposed to seek contributions of a limited number of people to secure the set but when the matter was mentioned to Mr. Harker, he insisted upon assuming the entire expense but with the condition that no one be apprised of his gift. So careful was he in guarding this part of the transaction that payment was made to the president of the board of trustees in currency and not even members of the immediate family or hospital board knew by whom the gift had been made.

Donor Inspected Set.

When the radio had been installed and was in perfect operation, Mr.
Harker was among the many who went through the hospital to look over the set. But even then no one suspected that it was through funds provided by Mr. Harker that it was made possible.

A six-tube electric radio is operated from the hospital office with 60 outlets leading to practically every bed in the institution. The outlet is located near the head of each bed, both in the wards and in the private rooms, where it can be plugged in by a patient or a nurse.

Head phones are used on the radio, loud speakers not being practical in hospitals where quietness must be maintained. Many patients provide their own head sets. For those who do not have them, the hospital furnishes them without any charge but requires a deposit of $1.25 while they are in use by the patient. The deposit is refunded when the set is returned to the office.

No special hours are provided for the radio entertainment, although as a general rule the set is turned off at 9 o'clock p. m., unless the program is one which the patients are anxious to hear.

TURNER WARNS OHIO CANDIDATES

TOLEDO, O., May 10.—Warning to "everybody," including political candidates and contributors to political campaigns, that Ohio's corrupt practices act "will be enforced" was voted here today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, addressing the Women's Republican club of Lucas county.

"Where any candidate indulges in the same practices that have obtained in the past—that of spending, either directly or indirectly, in excess of the statutory limitation, whether from his own money, or from contributions—prosecutions will follow," Turner asserted.

$60,000 GARAGE FIRE AT GIRARD

GIRARD, O., May 10.—The N. W.
Pope company's auto sales and service station, was in ruins here today as a result of fire last night. The loss is estimated at $60,000. Fire companies from Niles and Youngstown joined the local department in keeping the blaze from spreading. Fifteen autos were burned and Dr. W. B.
Cunningham, former mayor, was slightly hurt when struck by a fire truck.

Overnight Sensation From Argentine Flash- es Another Epic Round of 71 in British Open Golf Championship.

BY FRANK A. WRAY.

SANDWICH, May 10.—Flashing another epic round of 71, Jose Jurado, overnight sensation from the Argentine, took the play away from Bill Mehlhorn, Walter Hagen and the Americans in general by topping the more than half completed second round of the British open golf championship today with a 36-hole total of 145. Hagen, replying with a fine 73 today, was in possession of second position at this point with an aggregate of 148.

Mehlhorn, blowing up like a premature blast, took 41 strokes on the last nine holes to score a 18 and tie with Archie Compston, arch-rival of Hagen, for third position at this juncture.

Tommy Armour, American champion, was definitely eliminated from further play in the tournament by his 89 of today which gave him an aggregate of 161, more than the for-bidden fifteen strokes behind the leader. Jim Barnes, champion of Scotland, had a 74 for a total of 150. Barnes, with a fierce scowl on his rather dour face, was fighting hard to keep in the tournament.

BARON, KOEHL AND FITZ BUCK HEADWINDS ON HOP FROM EAST

Famous Flyers Arrive at Brook Park
in F-13.

CROWD CHEERS

Irish and German
Clubs Give Honor
Luncheon.

CLEVELAND, May 10.—The famous crew of the trans-Atlantic airship Bremen, Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, Major James C. Fitzmaurice and Captain Herman Koehl, continuing their tour of American cities arrived at Brook park, Cleveland airport, at 12:09 p. m. today from Philadelphia in the F-13, sister ship of the Bremen.

Record Crowd on Hand.

The flight was uneventful except for the bucking of slight head-wind, it was said. Ideal flying weather prevailed and a record crowd was on hand to extend greetings.

Major Fitzmaurice, the "smiling Irishman," and Captain Koehl alternated at the controls of the F-13 on the Philadelphia-Cleveland trip.

Police on duty at the airport were compelled to use force in keeping back the huge throng immediately after the landing and several newspaper photographers and news-reel men had close calls with their cameras.

An honor luncheon was to be tendered the "three modern musketeers," at the local airport, with nearly 100 persons, representing the Irish and German clubs of this city, in attendance. Brief speeches by the famous aviators and representative Clevelanders were on the program which was to be broadcast by radio.
Each of the Bremen trio was to be presented with a wrist watch, gift of German and Irish societies here.

Philadelphia Says Goodbye.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—The three members of the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen crew took off here today in their monoplane F-13 shortly after 9 o'clock, daylight saving time, for Cleveland on the second leg of their American tour. The plane got away without mishap, heading northwest as Baron Von Huenefeld, Captain Hermann Koehl and Major Fitz-maurice waved farewell to the small crowd that had gathered at the Philadelphia navy yards airport to see them off.

Flyers' Wives go to Chicago.

Koehl and Mrs. Violet Fitzmaurice,

Old Sores and Ulcers Can Be Healed!

Many a person has succeeded in healing stubborn old sores and ulcers with applications of Peterson's Ointment after expensive treatments had utterly failed.

Here is a letter well worth reading and if you have a friend afflicted the same, why not send him this?

"About a year ago, I contracted 15 varicose ulcers on my arm which rapidly grew worse. They extended up my whole arm, one-half inch deep. I used several salves, but instead of making my arm better they made it worse. Blood poisoning nearly set in. Doctors told me I would have to have my arm amputated. Finally I read about your ointment in the newspapers and began to use it. After several boxes I began to see an improvement, and within a short time the ulcers were entirely closed up and healed. I am glad to say a good word for Peterson's Ointment and you can refer to me any time."—Mrs. Patrick O'Neill, Buffalo, N. Y.

MONTOUR RAIL HEARING MAY 14

State Line Road Application Before
I. C. C.

Hearing of the Montour railroad, which recently filed an application with the interstate commerce commis- sion for permission to construct a branch line from Smith's Ferry, Pa., to Youngstown, will be conducted at Washington next Monday.

Trunk line roads operating into the Mahoning Valley are expected to op- pose the new line on the ground that it would mean a loss in freight reve- nues. The Erie railroad, one of the main roads running into the Youngs- town district, recently announced that it would offer no protest.

The Montour company a few months ago acquired the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western railroad between Lisbon and New Gallie. The company pro- poses to build a link between Smith's Ferry and Mill Rock, a station near the Ohio-Pennsylvania border, and an- other branch from Negley into Youngs- town. The improvement, it is said, has the backing of the Youngstown steel interests as it would enable them to secure shipments of coal by a water-rail route at a low freight rate.

Caps and Gowns

If you prove no surprise if the 147 graduates of the East Liverpool high school who will receive their diplomas Thursday evening, May 24, were the last class to appear in garbs of their own selection at commencement exercises.

Stilling rumors which were groundless, the board of education, at a special meeting, discussed the dress and suit question, and then announced that no restrictions had ever been adopted. However, it was intimated that action will be sought on the issue long before commencement night for the members of the 1929 class.

As one member put it, "The board of education feels that the students should be permitted to wear just whatever their parents can afford to furnish, and that no embarrassment whatsoever should be made possible by any requirement in the matter of dress."

And in the absence of the adoption of the cap and gown, which long have been recognized as the proper garb at most college commencements and not infrequently for high school graduations, this was a sensible decision. For neither members of the board of education nor teachers are in a position to know the financial status of the graduates' parents who, in many cases, have made sacrifices to permit their children to complete the four-year course in high school.

In bygone years, school authorities, not particularly in East Liverpool, have deemed it wise to suggest a limit on the amount to be expended in outfitting the graduate. And, too, graduating classes, by vote, have often decided the color and texture of the girls' dresses, while the boys, too, have chosen the conventional black, the popular blue serge or other hue, or, perhaps, white flannels and a dark coat. However, more often the rainbow effect, or use your judgment, has been the rule.

By far and large, too much money is expended on commencement gowns. The sensible thing, seemingly, would be the adoption of the cap and gown, which were once deemed proper in East Liverpool. This plan would avoid any possibility of embarrassment for any student on the night of his or her graduation.

Mother's Day

East Liverpool will observe next Sunday as Mother's day. The observance will be marked by special services and sermons in the churches, while sons and daughters will pay homage to mothers, living or dead, by wearing a flower.

Mother's day is both a glad day and a sad day. For those of us who have been spared our mothers, it should be a sort of thanksgiving, and for those whose mothers have gone beyond, it should be a day of retrospection.

If this were not such a hurly-burly world there would be no setting of a certain 24-hour period apart for this sort of observance. We would be giving each day the kindly thoughts and the homage that are due all mothers. But inasmuch as life has its accumulative problems and our whole scheme of existence is one of haste, it is well that one day of the year has been ordained Mother's day.

No matter how gray their sons may get; not matter to what heights they attain in their respective spheres; to the mothers their sons still are little boys. Mothers always act toward their sons as though they still were boys in short trousers, and dirty-faced. It's the way mothers have.

And it is just this that makes a mother of a mother. Men may travel far and accumulate wealth. Men may stay at home and sink to poverty. Men may store up friends and store up many enemies. Their lives may be examples for others, or their lives may be dismal failures. Old or young, straight or bent, rich or poor, good or bad, whatever the rest of the world may hold us, we still are to that one woman we call mother the dearest treasure in the world.

Honors For Fliers

Congress did the eminently proper thing in enacting legislation authorizing the president to award Distinguished Flying crosses to the six intrepid alien airmen who crossed the seas to come to us—Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeld, James C. Fitzmaurice and Herman Koehl, of the Bremen; Francisco de Pinedo, of Italy, and Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrun, of France. Such legislation was necessary for the awarding of the decorations for the reason that the law authorizing the conferring of this particular decoration contained no provision for its award upon other than American airmen.

American airmen who have made flights to foreign lands have been so hand-omely recognized by the conferring upon them of decorations of various kinds, that it is fitting that America should show like honors to notable foreign airmen who make flights to this country. And certainly Distinguished Flying crosses could not possibly be more fittingly bestowed upon any fliers than the six named to be thus honored.

Those who followed the flights of De Pinedo and those of Costes and Lebrun appreciate the fact that their achievements merit the highest mark of American appreciation for notable aerial accomplishments. The exploit of the two Germans and the Irishman who made up the crew of the Bremen is so recent that all are familiar with their hazardous feat in making the east-to-west crossing of the North Atlantic by aeroplane. For our government to fail to show its appreciation of such achievements as were those of the six aviators honored by this special legislation would be unfortunate under any circumstances. It would be the more so in the light of the many similar honors which have been heaped upon our airmen abroad.

Congress acted in this regard up to the best traditions of American appreciation of skill, courage and fortitude.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—To the average person, wood may mean only the fire he burns, the house he lives in, or a splinter in his thumb, but when a great national contest was held, with prizes running into the tens of thousands of dollars, for a slogan pregnant with the meaning and suggestive of significant facts relating to wood, much interest was aroused in that material's history and place in modern life.

At the same time many people discovered that their information about wood was restricted to a few vague ideas. Just as Kilmer's poem entitled "The Tree" awakened an appreciation of the dignity and beauty of a single tree, therefore noticed only as a part of the landscape, so public attention was called to a material that plays a part every day in the life of every one.

But beyond the fact that wood comes from trees, and like coal is divided into two major classes—hard and soft—the average mind was not concerned. Those who read the magazines which tell how to make a home out of a house and a garden out of a yard, did know, perhaps, that golden oak is out and relegated to the store-room along with head portieres, that curly maple does not resemble a corkscrew, that mahogany presents a ruddy wine-colored surface, and that walnut is in and its use is no longer restricted to what-nots.

Why one of the two classes of woods was called hard and the other soft was another problem, since some of the softest are classed among the hard. The use of those popular, if somewhat ill-fitting, names can be understood when such terms as angiosperms, gymnosperms, conifers, and deciduous are the tailor-made cognomens.

Accurate popular terms descriptive of woods native to this country are trees with broad leaves—the hardwoods—and trees with needles or scale-like leaves—the softwoods.

The hardwoods have thick walled, closely packed cells, whereas, the softwoods have cells that are large and thin walled. Among the former are ash, aspen, chestnut, oak, maple, locust, birch, walnut, beech, sycamore, and red gum. Among the latter are the pines—a large family with many Christian names—hemlock, cypress, spruce, larch and redwood.

The cells which compose the tissue of the trunks, roots, and branches of trees have various uses, from acting as arteries for carrying life-giving water, to the practical job of strengthening and holding the structure of the wood together. As the cells vary in structure so does the strength of the different species.

Claims have been made to the effect that heartwood, that central portion of the tree trunk usually a bit darker in color, is stronger than the sapwood, the outer and usually lighter portion through which nourishment courses and is temporarily stored. More than a half million tests have demonstrated that this is not so, it is stated.

Heartwood may be, however, more resistant to stain and fungi, and may possess more lasting qualities in climates that are inclined to be damp, but counterbalancing these are the qualities of the sapwood which permit it to season more rapidly and to take preservatives better.

Wood is classed among oil, coal, minerals, and water power as one of the natural resources so valuable to this country. However, it differs from the others in one respect. Their use must be regulated in order to preserve them, whereas that is the least important factor in the preservation of our forests. Protection in the form of guarding against and controlling fires is most important, but not to be overlooked is the possibility of actually replacing this natural resource.

Reforestation is the result of years of experimentation. Foresters now know the best time to plant and sow, and the sites that are best adapted, and by their efforts many thousands of acres of valuable timber land that have been denuded by fire and are useless for any other purpose have been made to produce fine trees again.

Q. Is the mamba much more poisonous than the rattlesnake? C. A. C.

A. It is about twenty times as poisonous. It inhabits jungles and swamps in South America, although it is also found elsewhere. A long, thin snake which coils itself about branches of trees, it darts at the unwary passerby like a flash. Its bite is so poisonous that death quickly follows.

Q. Are many of the publications of the Government Printing Office sold? F. R.

A. About 10,000,000 copies of publications are sold yearly, in addition to the mailing for the departments, which runs from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 copies a year. Last year the cash receipts for copies sold amounted to approximately $600,000.

Q. What were lamps of learning? E. P.

A. In Greece and Rome the dim, smoky lamp made its appearance at a fairly early date. It was a shallow dish, round or oval in shape, with a handle at one end and a spout for the wick at the other. It was made of baked earth or metal, and the wick was made of tow or cloth. These lamps used chiefly by students and teachers are the traditional lamps of learning to which reference is frequently made.

Q. Does an amateur have to have a license to broadcast? H. S.

A. It is necessary to have a transmitting license for any type of signal which is sent out. The Radio Division of the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., has charge of issuing licenses to operators and to broadcasting stations. In view of the rules and regulations of the new radio legislation there will be many fundamental changes in the old radio system.

Q. What countries produce the most coal? K. D.

A. The world production of coal and lignite in 1926 totaled 1,355,000,000 metric tons of 2,204.6 pounds. United States, first, 601,613,000; Germany, 285,240,307; United Kingdom of Great Britain, 127,589,000; France, 52,447,922.

ONE OF THEM CITY FELLERS HAD A NARROW (2½ INCHES) ESCAPE FROM BEING FINED FOR PARKING TOO NEAR THE VILLAGE FIRE HYDRANT.

Other Editors Say

Durant's List of Thinkers.

Will Durant, philosopher and author, omits the name of Christ from his list of the great thinkers of all times from Confucius to Darwin. It is not conclusive, of course, but merely represents Durant's conception of what constitutes "thought." Every one is entitled to his own ideas on the subject.

Durant's list was given out before the congregation of the Free Synagogue in Carnegie Hall, New York. A gathering predominantly Jewish, but it is hardly likely it influenced him to omit the name of the Man of Calvary. Rather, one is impressed with the sincerity of his expressed belief that Christ, Moses, Caesar and others were "thinkers only secondary" and "were primarily moral forces, reformers or men of action."

But with his statement that "Christ moved the world by feelings rather than by thought," many will disagree. It would appear that the principal significance of His life lay in the fact that He thought more clearly, more deeply, than others of His time, or of any other time, and out of His thoughts arose precepts to which a large part of the world now clings for hope and life. He preached thinking; he appealed to the people to turn their thoughts in right channels and sought to prove that mind and thoughts are the fundamentals of all life. More thinking of the kind done by Christ would save the world from the ills that beset it.—Columbus Dispatch.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Snap out of it. Revive your sagging spirits and diminish efforts.

Rouse yourself to greater interest. Your world and that world about you is only hum-drum if you make it seem so.

There is much ahead of you that is full of good if you are hopeful.

Maybe you have passed through a lot of dark clouds.

They still envelop you.

But pull out to a degree; at any rate it is worth while trying.

Anything that is improvement is sufficient to warrant any extra effort you may make.

To sag and resign yourself to fate is the easiest way.

But that is merely giving up. Set another goal, not too far ahead and make for it.

When you have established it, reach out for another goal and so on, and a succession of efforts will reward you nicely.

You need the building up which this plan will bring.

One way to break up these Paris divorces would be to charge a tariff on them when the principals come back home.—Uhrichville Chronicle.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Several New York city editors have been running a temperature the past few months over press agent hoaxes. Three extremely plausible stories streamed across first pages, only to be discovered as canards the next day.

Each was so cleverly "planted" it seemed air tight, and even grizzled veterans of the copy desk passed them without a suspicious sniff. One concerned a doubtful daughter of a fallen royal house, another a dawn suicide of a dancer in the Central Park lake, and the other a night club battle.

Despite the fact that press agency of this kind has absolutely no box-office value, producers of plays and movies still pay fancy sums to suave gentlemen to perpetrate them. A press agent is said to have averaged $50,000 a year for many years, concocting these absurdities.

One concerned a patron of a hotel bringing a lion to his apartment in a piano box and registering as "T. R. Zann." Several weeks later a film called "Tarzan" was shown on Broadway. The connection was so remote it is possible not a person who read the press yarn was inspired to see the film.

Yet it cost the exhibitors a snug fortune to put over the fakery. There are a few flimsy laws to protect newspapers against this house wren, but newspapers do not want to complicate being victimized by such twaddle, and so nothing is ever done.

Press agents of this ilk are those without literary skill. They cannot write a line that would pass muster, but are ingenious in rigging up situations that invite journalistic inspection. And the net result is a hapless reporter, who is tricked, loses his job.

There is an organization among press agents, composed of more or less members of the guild, which frowns on such doings, but to no avail. It would seem that it will take a prison jolt to end the film-flaming and newspapers are now working for just that.

Among famous press agent concoctions are the Anna Held milk bath and the tan bark carpeted street. Deaden noises for Mrs. Pat Campbell. There was no attempt to be witty. The ideas were presented to newspapers as stunts, and were thus seized upon in a semi-humorous vein and are still talked about. Had they been achieved by trickery they would have likely died aborning.

The tabloids have been a most fertile field for this sort of sensational exploitation, yet they somehow manage to do it with such a gay abandon that it doesn't much matter. But when a sedate, dignified journal is victimized, that is something else again.

Over a speak-easy bar with five bartenders on duty in 47th street is a sign: "Running one year full blast without a raid!" Next thing we know they'll be shouting: "Bring the kiddies."

A New York husband arrived home three mornings in a week after 4 a. m. His wife told him if it happened the fourth time she would be difficult to find. It happened. Three weeks later he learned through private detectives she was in Honolulu. The remedy was effective. He is permanently cured. This is if she will just come back.

Nothing quite so confounds a philanthropist husband as the discovery his wife doesn't give a hoot. It is the hazards that offer zest to philanthropy, and these once removed, the philanthropist is more likely than not to sneak back to the carpet slippers and turn on the radio.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Young girls have a critical period to face about the time they enter high school till they are eighteen years of age. During this time they may lose their rosy cheeks and become white, almost waxen in complexion. Sometimes the skin is greenish in color. There may be no emaciation or loss of plumpness, but the general appearances of the skin is far from normal.

On the slightest exertion there is loss of breath and inability to proceed with any physical task. Palpitation of the heart and frequent fainting spells are other disturbing symptoms. The power of the red blood cells to carry oxygen is materially lessened. This leads to the heart disturbances.

There may be the most remarkable perversion of appetite. It is not uncommon for girls to like pickles, but the girls I am discussing eat chalk, lead pencils and all sorts of indigestible and harmful things.

The heart disturbances mentioned may become so serious that "nervous" develop. On this account and because of the general weakness, there is no ambition and indeed no strength to do any kind of work.

Dyspepsia, constipation and sometimes ulcers of the stomach may develop. The muscular weakness naturally affects the muscles of the stomach and intestines and digestive troubles follow as a matter of course.

There are marked changes in the composition of the blood. The red blood cells are decreased in number and size and they fail to carry the vital red substance. This lowers the normal function of the blood.

All these symptoms and conditions make up a disorder which is called "Chlorosis." It comes from a Greek word meaning green, and the name is well given to this condition, which has been called the "green-sickness."

Worry, over-work, either physical or mental, lack of food and bad hygiene are the chief causes. Exposure to wet or cold may mark the beginning of the trouble. When girls learn the importance of warm and dry feet they will escape many ailments.

The disease is more common among city girls than in the country. Over-crowding, bad lighting and stair climbing appear to influence its development. Girls who go from the country with its freedom to the city with its confinements, are apt to suffer from chlorosis.

In the treatment, relaxation, mental freedom from care and responsibility come first. Nutritious food, gentle exercise, fresh air day and night, sunshine and baths will do wonders. The simple, hygienic life is the secret of cure.

The complications should be given general and remedial treatment. With care and observance of the physician's orders complete cure should be had in a few months.

Easier washday and whiter clothes with this hard-water soap

WASHDAY is like a holiday now! No scrubbing, no boiling—it's wonderful! And I get whiter, brighter washes than ever.

My whole secret is Rinso suds in the washer. You never saw such suds! They loosen dirt and stains so they float right off. All I have to do is rinse.

This granulated hard-water soap is all I need on washday—no bar soaps, chips or water softeners. A little makes such thick, creamy, lasting suds—even in the hard water we have here.

I read in the newspaper the other day that the makers of 32 leading washing machines endorse Rinso for safety and whiter washes. And that more than 32,000 demonstrators of washers use it to show their machines at their best. They must know!

My neighbor has no washer, but she tells me she uses Rinso in the tub because it soaks out the dirt and so saves the clothes and her hands.

You Need More Than a Smile

By Edna Wallace Hopper.
It's pleasant to know that your glistening white teeth fascinate and allure. But we who make an earnest study of health and youth preservation demand more than cleanliness. The enamel and gums must be protected.

To assure the greatest precaution against wearing away of precious enamel I have had to understand personally the effects of the various ingredients of the tooth paste I use, which is called Quindent, the "five-in-one" dentifrice.

I am convinced that it not only cleanses and polishes the teeth perfectly, but it purifies the breath and, above all, counteracts the ever-present acids. This last protection is due to one of its most valuable properties—milk of magnesia, which I used to use separately as a mouth wash before expert scientists had produced Quindent.

Quindent is not a biting, sharp dentifrice. Its action is sure and mild. The taste is pleasant and I advise you to leave a slight coating of it on the gums and tongue which is effective for hours.

You can obtain Quindent at any toilet counter, 50 cents for a large tube.

Why suffer with Rheumatism?

You know it cannot be rubbed away

ARE you one of those unfortunate who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered with rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best."—Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN BEATEN, BURIED ALIVE

Mrs. Marie Billings, 36, in Serious Condition.

MYSTERIOUS CASE Victim Semi-conscious When Placed in Grave.

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—Mrs. Marie Billings, 36, is in a serious condition at a hospital today after having been beaten and buried alive in a semi-conscious condition, according to her story to the sheriff's office.

She said a man came to her home and tried to sell her some real estate. Suddenly, she declared, he struck her over the head with a blunt club.

Sheriff's office investigators said it appeared that the woman's assailant had taken her in an automobile into the Puente hills, laid her in a shallow grave and covered her with loose dirt, in the belief that she was dead. Mrs. Billings' hands and feet had been bound. She said she was semi-conscious when placed in the grave, but could make no outcry.

Later she freed herself and struggled out of her makeshift grave. A taxi driver found her on a road a mile east of Whittier, seeking aid. She still wore the blanket which had been wrapped around her by her assailant.

The woman was released on her own recognizance.

TODAY

EUROPE is doing well, recovering steadily, according to Ford, and the United States will keep present prosperity and get more through the summer and fall, "and the presidential election will have nothing to do with it."

"Produce the best article you can, keep prices as low as you can, pay workers as much as you can, see that they do good work for good pay." That's all there is to success, according to Ford, but you must keep improving, never be satisfied. His Detroit plants will be turning out 5,000 cars a day on July 1st, 6,000 a day by the end of July, says Ford.

ASKED how he managed to make his new car run so smoothly on rough roads, Ford replied, "It runs that way because Edsel and I worked for two years at every detail of it."

CROWN PRINCE CAROL, who wants to make a fool king of Rumania, is put out of England, not allowed to go to France, and thinks of visiting us. Plenty of fools here will feed and honor anything that calls itself "royalty."

WAR threatens between Japan and China, although it is hard to say who, in China, could declare or wage war. A suggestion that the United States act as mediator in the quarrel leaves too cold. The United States should mind the business of the United States and let Asia settle its fights in its Asiatic way. We recently got into one war. That ought to last us a long time.

JAPAN has sent 15,000 more soldiers to China and evidently means business. Nemo me impune lacessit, translated into Japanese, is Nippon's, as well as Scotland's motto. China will learn the meaning of those Latin words.

HOOVER FACES WEST VIRGINIA BATTLE QUIZ

Charge of "Stalking Horse" Thrown Back
at Secretary.

GOFF EXPLAINS Cabinet Member is in for Uncomfortable Heckling.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Herbert Hoover appeared today to be in for some more uncomfortable heckling on the part of "the allies" who are seeking to prevent his nomination by the Kansas City convention.

Hoover spent an hour on the witness stand before the senate campaign fund committee yesterday, answering questions concerning his organization, and not infrequently clashing with its members. Today it developed that the cabinet candidate is to be summoned again for specific questioning as to the circumstances which prompted his decision to enter the West Virginia primary against Senator Gay D. Goff.

The Hoover managers, they point out, have designated as "stalking horses" all those favorite sons who have arisen to challenge the progress of the Hoover candidacy in their respective states.

Today the charge of "stalking horse" was thrown back at Hoover by Goff, and the senate committee is interested in it. It was decided that another examination of Hoover is necessary.

Hoover testified on the stand that "a certain senator" telephoned him that Goff declined to permit the West Virginia delegates to announce second choices in the primary. He declined to give the committee the name of the senator, saying he did not want to involve anyone else in the matter, but the committee is curious and it was planned today to go after all the details.

Tells of Senator's Call.

"A senator did call me and say that Hoover would not enter West Virginia if I would agree to throw the delegation to him," said Goff. "I told him he should tell the secretary that I was not a 'stalking horse' candidate, and that if he wanted to ride a hobby horse he would have to get somebody else to be the horse. That's why Hoover entered the West Virginia primary against me—because I wouldn't agree to throw the delegation to him."

"I refused to be a stalking horse for Mr. Hoover. In my opinion, such a proposition was an attempted bribe of the West Virginia delegation, and was, in effect, nothing more or less than attempted moral bribery."

Goff approached him, but asserted that "I shall certainly tell if the committee asks me."

This flare-up was taken today as but one indication of the growing bitterness between the Hoover camp and the alliance of favorite sons, who are friendly to Lowden or Dawes in the fight for the Republican nomination.

Heartened and encouraged by the result in Indiana, where Hoover suffered the first real defeat of the current primary season, the coalition against him has returned to the battle with renewed hope. They confidently believe they have enough votes in sight to "stop" the cabinet candidate at Kansas City, with Lowden as the rallying post for all the anti-Hoover sentiment in the convention.

Whether they have or not remains to be seen. The Hoover managers deride the claims of "the allies" and claim that the Hoover movement has attained too much momentum to be halted by such temporary setbacks as the Indiana result.

Impartial tabulators figure that Hoover will enter the convention with nearly 400 votes on the first and second ballots, not counting the powerful New York and Pennsylvania delegations which between them have 169 votes. A majority of the convention necessary to nominate is 445. It is fairly evident, therefore, that if New York and Pennsylvania leaders swing to Hoover the efforts of the favorite sons and Lowden-Dawes leaders will be in vain.

Orator Off to Troy

Massachusetts and New York, are Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Vermont and Maine. Identity of six of the ten competitors, forwarded to the Brush-Moore Newspapers, follows:

Delbert Eugene Nixon, Ohio; Harry Emmons Glass, Ottawa Hills high school, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Miss Roberta P. Powers, Morrisville, Vt.; Roswell D. Kirby, Albion, N. Y.; Miss Alice Gibbs, Saratoga, N. Y.; Harriet E. Welden, Richfield Springs, N. Y.; and Elizabeth Cecelia Siteman, Portland, Me.

Nixon's oration is based on "The Development of the Constitution." He has revised it to some extent, and has been laboring with its presentation since he won the all-Ohio contest here two weeks ago. Nixon's purpose, he said today, to be so letter perfect and to have the oration in hand so completely that it will be possible for him to deliver his very best efforts at Troy.

Arrangements have been made for presenting the Troy zone contest in Music hall in that city, said to be one of the outstanding auditoriums in north-central New York. The orators and their companions will be quartered at the Hendrik Hudson hotel during their stay in Troy, where they will be guests of The Troy Record, sponsor of the competition in its home city.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 10.—Industrial stocks at the beginning of trading today showed the usual effect of uncertainty over "rokers' loans and the bank rediscount rate. Price movements of the speculative leaders were irregular and confused, with the exception of the investment rails, which were inclined to continue yesterday's upward movement. The oils and public utility stocks were also firm.

The usual Thursday speculations over the prospects of an increase in the bank rate occupied the attention of a good part of the Wall Street district. The call loan rate was unchanged at 6 per cent, but funds were available at 5 to 5 1/2 per cent in the outside market.

Electric Auto Light was a brilliant bullish leader in the automobile accessories, the stock registering a new high at 219, on merger reports. This is a gain of 5 points for the day and more than 100 points for the movement. Stewart Warner Speedometer sold around 160 in an active market, and the bulk of the tire and rubber stocks were firm.

IMPROMPTU TALK Planes Drop Handbills at Mass Meeting in Athens.

ATHENS, O., May 10.—A truce between miners and operators of the striking Hocking valley district "on a sound economic basis" until such time as congress approves of legislation to fix a permanent wage scale" was urged by Oral Daugherty, deposed leader of the United Mine Workers sub-district, before a mass meeting of 3,000 miners here last night.

Daugherty hurled charges of "rotten politics within the union" at officials of the United Mine Workers. He also criticized the manner in which they conducted the Hocking valley strike.

While Daugherty had no official place upon the program, cries for a speech from him came from the audience during the course of a talk by Philip Murray, vice-president of the national organization of United Mine Workers. Murray was forced to conclude his speech and give Daugherty the platform.

Hall Flays Bill Authors.
Two airplanes flying over the meeting grounds dropped handbills into the crowd, praising Daugherty's attitude in the coal strike. Daugherty disclaimed any knowledge of their author or distributors.

Lee Hall, state president of the United Mine Workers, who presided at the meeting, flayed the authors of the handbills and said that the man who printed them was a "dirty, rotten coward who hasn't the courage to put his name to such a slimy sheet."

Daugherty said that he had no intention of withdrawing from the union and that he would appeal his removal to a district convention as soon as it was called.

David Watkins, of Cambridge, vice-president of the state organization of unions, and George Cavage, Columbus, secretary and treasurer, also spoke.

WARTIME FLYER Peter Vacca Speaks at Luncheon in Hotel.

Peter Vacca, Weirton banker and aviator, who claims to have given Eddie Rickenbacker, American ace, his first flying lesson, addressed members of the Kiwanis club at a luncheon in the grill room of the Travelers' hotel today. His subject was "The Air Service—Essential in Peace and War."

Vacca, who served as a flyer for four years during the world war, discussed the growth of aviation. Until 1925, he declared, the man who attempted to make his livelihood by flying faced starvation. Now, he said, America is beginning to realize the importance of aviation and everywhere airports and landing fields are being established.

Vacca inspected East Liverpool's proposed airport in Madison township this morning, being accompanied by amateur flyers from this city.

Ralph T. Couch presided at the luncheon. The singing was led by Prof. Hugh Laughlin. Special guests included: Donald Trotter, Hartt Lakin, Albert McLain, Rex Barker, C. W. Holley and E. W. Winters, of this city, and Albert McDonald, Pittsburgh.

MIDLAND, Pa., May 10.—Steel City solons last night purchased a site and called for bids for construction of Midland's new incinerator plant.

The site is one the western edge of the corporation limits on the north side of the East Liverpool road. Judge Richard S. Holt, solicitor, advised the lawmakers that in his opinion the title to the land was reasonably clear. He traced the title back to 1805 when it was transferred by land grant from the commonwealth.

Bids for the construction of the plant will include quotations for erection of one 30-ton unit, two 15-ton units, and one 15-ton unit with connections and additional space for a second 15-ton unit later.

Bids will be opened in about three weeks.

Midland property owners whose sidewalks are in need of repair will be warned that council considers the walks dangerous and in need of repair or replacement.

Council will advertise for bids for rebuilding crumbled curbing. Report submitted by W. I. McInerney, chairman of the street committee, indicated that approximately one mile of sidewalk and two miles of curb are in need of replacement.

W. A. Filson, tax collector, who has cleaned up the 1927 duplicate in record time, was released from his surety bond. Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, city secretary, was instructed to write Filson a letter commending him.

Surplus of approximately $19,000 remaining from the storm sewer construction fund was referred to finance committee for return to general fund. Solicitor Holt gave the opinion that the fund could not be transferred without a popular vote.

Excess taxes amounting to $72 paid by Frank Migliore through an error in the tax duplicate, were ordered refunded.

Solons ordered that bids be received for painting the interior of the council chamber.

FROWNS ON TRUCK

Present Equipment Will Reach Third Story Blazes.

MIDLAND, Pa., May 10.—Midland's fire department is without a ladder equipment to reach the third story of a building threatened by fire, P. A. Fernsler, chairman of council's fire committee, said at a meeting of the solons last night.

Fernsler presented a report of a recent conference of his committee with Steel City volunteers. He declared that firemen report they do not need light auxiliary chemical truck. Chemical facilities of the large borough fire truck seldom are exhausted at fires, he said.

Fernsler advocated the purchase of a combination ladder and service truck capable of carrying 500 feet of hose.

Solon McInerney countered with the proposal to buy 50-foot extension ladders to be hung on sheltered pegs on each of the school buildings, ready for use in emergency.

"Question of having enough ladder equipment here is very serious," declared Fernsler in submitting his report.

Newell And Chester Battle To 5-5 Deadlock At Smith Field

Honors Even as Rivals Meet in Opening Clash

Wilde Hands Out Four Hits; Justice Pitches Great Ball in Pinches; Bubin Crashes Out Homer.

In one of the most thrilling battles of the Industrial League season to date, those two old rivals of many a pennant clash in recent years, Chester and Newell, last night resumed hostilities where they left off in 1927 and, playing until the sun sank below the peaks of the valley hills and the street lamps beamed across the fences from adjacent streets, could do no more than finish in a 5 to 5 deadlock.

Crucial moments were constant occurrences as the West Virginia rivals fought for supremacy.

The Riley nine hopped off with a three run lead in the opening frame and prospects for a victory in the Smith Field opener looked good to Chester followers. Joe Dickey came back with two counters in the second and added two more in the fourth and the visitors went into the lead. In the second half of the fourth the Chesterites rallied again and scored a brace of runs to swing the advantage to the Riley dugout. But it was short lived. In the fifth the visiting swatters counted in the run that tied the count at 5-5 and that was the way they finished.

Wilde and Justice, Chester and Newell pitchers, respectively, may well qualify as Houdinis after their exhibitions last night. Close to half a dozen times the two clubs clogged the bases against opposition hurling and when things looked bright for at least a three or four run rally these pitchers wriggled out of the hole in some miraculous manner on each occasion with probably a one or two-run loss.

Chester went to the plate in the final half of the sixth, filled up the bases with one down and got not a run out of it. Springer drew a walk and Rummell, attempting to bunt, popped to Simcox at third. Evans walked and Parsons also drew a free ticket and the runways became densely populated. Only a sacrifice fly or a measly single at this juncture was needed to drive in the winning run. But Pitcher Justice remained cool in the situation. He pitched to Cebula and Pete popped out to second. That was two gone. He pitched to Connors and Ty lofted one to Merchant and that made three.

Center Fielder Rummell probably saved the game for Chester with a spectacular running catch in the first half of the same inning.

Ranaldi had walked and Justice reached first base when an attempt was made to get Ranaldi at second. Wilde grabbed Justice's ground ball but heaved off balance and the throw pulled Cebula off the sack.

A moment later Ranaldi was caught trying to steal third, making the first out. Dugman, third man up, connected with a fast one and drove a wicked liner over Second Baseman Connors' head into center. Rummell, Chester, Rookie, came tearing in from the pasture, grabbed the drive on a dead run and heaved to Springer at first to double Justice. The latter was at second base when the play was completed and had no chance to get back. In fact, the wallop looked good for at least two sacks when it started out.

The Chester nine clubbed out eight bingles, bunching them successfully in the first and fourth. Wilde held the visitors to four safeties — one single, one double, one triple and one home run — how's that for variety?

Both hurlers, however, were wild at times. The Chester flinger issued five walks, one of which forced in a run, while Justice passed six.

Laughlin went out in order in the opening frame. Foster, leading off, drew a walk but Watson fanned. Finley hit to Connors who nipped off Foster at second. Wilde, pitching to Simcox, caught Finley off first and the Newell shortstop headed for second. Springer and Cebula ran him down. Pete making the putout.

Evans, leading off for Chester, drew a walk. Parsons sacrificed. Cebula singled, scoring Evans. Connors walked. Wilde singled to score Cebula. McMath fanned. Wilde stealing second. Marshall hit safely to right but Wilde was caught at the plate.

Laughlin counted twice in the second frame. Simcox was passed and he stole second. Merchant fanned. Stanley sacrificed and Bubin smashed the ball to right center for a home run.

Ranaldi fanned to retire the side.

The clubs went runless until the fourth when Laughlin scored two more and took a one-run lead. Finley tripled and Simcox walked and both finished the circuit aided by Merchant, who was nicked in the ribs by one of Wilde's curves and a bad throw to the plate which scored Finley. Simcox, Merchant and Stanley were on the bags when Ranaldi walked to force in a run. Wilde got out of the hole without further damage when Bubin and Justice fanned.

Chester made two in their half. Marshall and Rummell crossing the plate with their singles, coupled with Evans' safety, Parsons' walk and a sacrifice by Cebula.

That gave Chester a 5-4 lead. The advantage disappeared, however, in the fifth when Laughlin knotted the count with the last score of the contest. Watson popped up to McMath but Finley singled to center and was given second on an overthrow to first. Simcox flew out to Rummell in center and Merchant got on when one slipped by Connors at second. Finley scoring.

MAKE RULING ON ELIGIBILITY

As a result of the pre-season scramble for players, a number of conflicts appear on rosters of Recreation league clubs as submitted to Secretary T. F. Scheffer.

In one instance one player is named on the eligibility lists of three clubs. League officials have ruled that where any player who was not regularly a member of any league team last year is thus named on two or more eligibility lists, he will definitely become a member of the club with which he first plays, and will not be permitted to play with any other club unless by agreement of managers of those two clubs.

AT MONTREAL—Kid Roy, Canadian featherweight champion, won from Vic Foley, Vancouver, on foul (6).

Edwards Facing Test In Wellsville Battle

West Virginian to Meet Improved Type of Boxer in Swissvale Pug; Other Boys Ready for Gong Tonight.

REDDY EDWARDS, the Chester welterweight who has made a lot of friends among district fight followers as a result of his performances in the F. O. E. ring were, tonight will face the acid test of his early career as a glove slinger when he takes on Bob Macroe, Swissvale youth working out of Mike Harding's stable, in the six-round main bout of Ray Foutts' attraction card in the Wellsville city hall auditorium.

Barnes Blanks Pirates

And Giants' Flag Hopes Become More Roseate.

By Les Conklin.
NEW YORK, May 10.—The pennant prospects of the league-leading New York Giants were more roseate today because of the brand of pitching flashed by the veteran Virgil Barnes in New York's 6 to 0 victory over Pittsburgh yesterday.

Cohen and Hogan drove in four runs.

Cincinnati kept to the pace by trouncing Boston, 4 to 1.

A single by Gonzales gave Root of the Cubs a 2 to 1 verdict over McWeeny of Brooklyn in a twelve-inning mound duel.

The Cardinals trounced the Phils again, 7 to 1, and advanced to within a few points of the third-place Pirates. Little John, Indian twirler, toyed with the Quakers while the Red Birds made merry at the expense of two of their former pitchers, Ring and McGraw.

Inclement weather kept all the American league clubs idle.

Edwards has tucked away a half-dozen scraps this winter, including one at Lisbon. Three knockouts, a draw and two decisions testify pretty well to his ability. Not a defeat has been chalked up against the West Virginian in his first season as a campaigner of the ring. But, at the same time, he has been meeting talent that is pretty well classified in the local district. Mascere stands to bring a little more into the ring with him tonight than a majority of Edwards' opposition to date, or at least he should.

It is not likely that Mike Harding would pick up any Tom, Dick or Harry and work him out of his stable, unless he saw in him the ability to produce, ultimately, if not at present.

Edwards has been training religiously for this engagement and is confident that he can come through.

The "meat" of the card will be centered in the "Rocky" Rose-Duke Heckathorne 155 pound scuffle, preceding the Edwards Mascere bout. Both are East Enders and district rivals and as such, certain of producing action.

Ray Foutts, promoter, today promised to work the bouts in the event that he had no fights himself. Yesterday he was notified by Manager Bronson that he was scheduled for a setto with Bushy Graham in New York on Monday night, and, as a result, he will be unable to work the local bouts. The rest of the battles on the card are in shape and anxious for the bell. The milling will begin at 8:15.

AT FORTH WAYNE, Ind.—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, recognized as flyweight champion in New York state, outpointed Happy Atherton, Indianapolis (10).

MIDLAND SOFT BALL

Service department was handed the first shutout of the season here yesterday when Reese, on the mound for the Order department nine, blanked the Servicers, 7-0.

Seibel and Joyce, first bagman and shortstop for the Order department, were the heavy hitters, each knocking out three pegs. Seibel made three sacks on one of his clouts.

Service department played with two men short and only threatened to score in the fifth, when a double play. Reese to Seibel to Lightner, halted their rally.

DON'T PUSH! LINE FORMS AT RIGHT

AMSTERDAM, May 10.—Visitors at the Olympic games in Amsterdam this year will not want for liquid refreshment. Ordinarily Amsterdam cafes and bars close at 1 a. m., but the town council, perhaps catering to visitors from "dry" countries, has decreed that they may remain open an hour later while the games are in progress.

South Africa's recent agricultural fair was a success.

English To Try for Record

Will Challenge 220-yard Mark at County Meet.

WHEN track enthusiasts of Columbiana county gather at the fair grounds in Lisbon on Saturday for the 25th annual county scholastic track and field meet, a majority of Blue and White followers, as well as quite a few interested individuals from other sections of the district, will watch the performance of Elmer English, East Liverpool speed merchant.

English is billed to run the century, the 220, possibly the relay and, perhaps, do a little high jumping.

Two watches caught English at 21 25 seconds in the 220-yard dash in the dual meet with Wellsville last Saturday, and whether the watches were accurate or not, there is little question about the fact that English was stepping off those 220 yards in something near record time.

The county record in the 220 is held by Gaines, the colored star who did some sprinting for Columbiana a few years ago.

In 1919 Gaines ran the distance in 22 seconds flat.

Other county records that Columbiana athletes will shoot at Saturday are:

220-yard hurdles—Gregg, Salem; 27 seconds in 1925.
Running high jump—Hjerpe, Wellsville; 5 ft. 11 in., in 1915.

100-yard dash—Gaines, Columbiana; 10 seconds in 1919.
Pole vault—Allen, Salem; 11 ft., 9 5-8 inches, in 1926.

Half mile—Bucher, East Liverpool, in 1916, and Perkins, Salem, in 1926, 2 minutes, 5 seconds.

Broad jump—Ward, East Palestine, 21 ft., 3 3/4 inches in 1924.
220—Gaines, Columbiana, 22 seconds in 1919.

Javelin—Mefort, Lisbon, 163 ft., 1 in., in 1921.
Hammer—Thomas, East Palestine, 142 ft., 6 in., in 1918.

440—Gaines, Columbiana, 52 seconds in 1920.
Shot—Hum, Lisbon, 43 ft., 11 in., in 1912.

1 Mile—Campbell, Wellsville, 4 minutes, 47 4-5 seconds in 1916.
Discus—Schafernocker, East Palestine, 108 ft., 11 3-4 inches in 1926.

1 Mile—Salem, 3 minutes, 42 2-5 seconds.

The champions have won fifteen of their first twenty games this season. In their first twenty starts last year they won twelve games, lost seven and tied one.

YANKS SETTING FASTER PACE

NEW YORK, May 10.—The New York Yankees have been setting a faster pace this season than during the early days of the 1927 American league race, despite the fact that they were out of first place for some time this spring.

The champions have won fifteen of their first twenty games this season. In their first twenty starts last year they won twelve games, lost seven and tied one.

Jack O'Brosky, principal member of Saul McCoy's hurling staff, will probably go into action on the mound tonight for the first time against John Fowler's Turk Nash nine at Columbian park.

The game originally was billed for Patterson Field but was transferred to the East End lot pending improvements at West End.

Ex-Champ Dempsey is Really Suffering From Eye Trouble

Jack Consults Specialist; Must Undergo Treatment or Operation Before he Can Fight.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Jack Dempsey really has faulty vision, brought about by the punches he received in the ring. He was leveling when he told the boys that defective eyesight was responsible for his confessed retirement. Later, upon his arrival in New York, he saw fit to laugh at the story. Let him laugh at this one.

Dempsey consulted a specialist here several weeks ago about the condition of his eyes. The writer knows this to be true because the fact was admitted today at the Manhattan eye, ear and throat hospital where the examination took place. It merely was a superficial diagnosis, as Dempsey was embroiled in the Kearns suit at the time and couldn't arrange sufficient appointments to undergo a course of treatment.

The preliminary examination showed a small cataract, caused by an injury to the retina. This, it is said, is the more aggravated form of cataract and requires great delicacy in the matter of treatment.

Sooner or later, it is believed, Dempsey will have to go under the knife or sacrifice the sight of the eye so affected. Needless to add, a complete cure must be effected before Dempsey can consider fighting again.

"Lay off that eye stuff," he requested with a laugh when he arrived in New York. "I wish I had the guy who started that story. There's nothing the matter with my eyes. I simply wear glasses sometimes because I don't like the glare of strong sunlight."

Within ten days of that statement, Dempsey was at a hospital asking what could be done about the eyes he had approved so highly. He said he would return after the suit was settled. He didn't. Perhaps this means Rickard has convinced him that there will be no need of him changing his mind this year, and, therefore, he decided an immediate operation was unnecessary. Perhaps it means that Dempsey, having made his retirement speech, has decided to stick to it.

What is more likely is that his failure to return was the result of one of those impulses for which Dempsey has become noted. In any case, those who claim to know him best won't listen to any argument that tends to support his retirement story.

They contend that any man who lives at the rate of a quarter of a million dollars a year simply must go back in there for more. I have heard less convincing arguments than this.

Promoters War Over Services Of Champion

Rickard Fugazy Scrap May Reach Courts.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The contest between promoters Tex Rickard and Humbert Fugazy over the services of Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, threatened today to develop into a bitter legal battle. Desiring Rickard, Loughran has signed with Fugazy to defend his title twice within two weeks, but Rickard claims to hold an option on Tommy's ring services until next November. Tex declares he will carry his fight into the courts.

Loughran signed to fight Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion, in a fifteen round bout at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, on May 30. He also promised Fugazy that if he beats Latzo he would take on Leo Lonski, the Aberdeen, Wash., assassin, in the same ring on June 13.

Rickard had lined up Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion, for a bout with Loughran at the Yankee stadium here in June.

ORDER PROBE OF PADDOCK'S PAST

NEW YORK, May 10.—The Amateur Athletic Union has ordered an investigation into the amateur standing of Charles Paddock, the crack California sprinter who is expected to be one of America's heaviest point scorers in the coming Olympic games. The A. A. U. will check Paddock's statement that he is receiving no remuneration for playing in motion pictures.

Stolen Idols

A Romance of the Sea
By Frank L. Packard.

"Verna!" The soul of the man was suddenly alive. His voice trembled. "It's true, then! True! You care! What I thought I read in your eyes at Java Dick's that night is true. You care—you care!"

"Yes," she whispered. "I—I think I have cared for, or so much longer than I ever knew, and—and that—"

She broke off with a sudden catch in her breath. "But not now—there is no time now—and these knots are so terribly hard. And I am taking so much time—and Minder Singh said that I must get you free, and that we must get into the boat as quickly as we could."

She was working desperately, devoting her attention first to the lashings around his waist—and half-sobbing still.

"I'll wait, then!" Bob Kingsley forced a lightness and a gaiety into his voice. "How can you know how much I care until my arms are free. It's all right, Verna! There's time enough. The crew, to the last man, so far as I can make out, are all below—sleeping off the day's carousal."

"No," she said, "there are a few still on the deck."

"But they're hors de combat, too!" he reassured her. "Where's Minder Singh?"

"I don't know," she answered. "He—he struck down that man at the wheel—and—"

"Yes, I saw that," Bob Kingsley interrupted hastily. "But where is he now?"

"I don't know," she repeated. "He came to me and told me I was to set you free, and that we were to get at once into the boat. He said he would come soon; and then he went away across the deck. I—I thought that they had killed him today."

"Yes!" said Bob Kingsley under his breath. His eyes were searching the deck; he was listening intently. He could see nothing, hear nothing.

"You are free now!" she said suddenly.

He reached out to her and caught her up into his arms.

"Why didn't you untie my hands first?" he asked in teasing reproach—and his lips found hers before she could answer. "Were you afraid of—this?"

"No"—her words were barely audible—"but I was afraid that—something might happen—that you would still be tied here to the rail with no chance of getting to the boat, and—and no time to—"

"You're right!" he said soberly. "The boat first!"

He carried her the few steps forward to the bow that she might be that much the longer in his arms, and here he set her down upon her feet. A moment later he had located the boat just below him on the port side.

He swung himself over the bow, and braced himself on the bowsprit's lower stay. The rest was not difficult, for the schooner's bow was low, and Verna lowering herself into his arms, he swung her down there down into the boat. An instant later, he, too, was in the boat—but there was still the line that made the boat fast to the schooner. It was the boat's stern he remembered. He found it—and found it securely knotted—but after a few minutes' work he loosened it so that it might be cast off at a moment's notice. Then he moved forward to the thwart where Minder Singh had sat that afternoon. The oars were still in the rowlocks. He smiled grimly then. It was a lucky thing the boat was fitted with rowlocks—with thole-pins there would likely have been no oars left! But Chen-shu, of course, had known that! What did it matter? As soon as Minder Singh came they could start for the shore. It was a long way, but they ought to be able to make it in three or four hours—before daylight anyway. And even if a breeze sprang up and Chen-shu and his crew got their senses back sufficiently to navigate the schooner, there'd be no chance of finding the boat in the darkness.

"All's ready, Verna!" he said cheerily in a guarded voice—and stretching out his hand to her where she had seated herself on the thwart just forward of him, he drew her back to his side.

She made no answer—except to lift her hands impulsively and clasp his face between them.

His arms went around her. It was very dark. He could scarcely see her features; but he could feel the wetness of her cheek against his own, and sense the quiver of her lips as they met his. He drew her head down on his shoulder.

"I want to know so many things," he pleaded. "I want to know first of all why you were so anxious to get to Singapore when it wasn't any longer to lay me by the heels, and—"

She stopped him with her fingers on his lips.

"But it was because of you," she whispered. "I think I knew before I left the Alita at Kalawa—that that I cared. I think I knew then, in half admitting it was a possibility, that I had treated you more shamefully than any man had ever—"

"Don't!" he protested tenderly. "That's not what I want to know, Verna!"

"Let me finish," she urged. "I think I knew those things then; I was sure of them when I had heard the story of the Chinese junk and your uncle's death, as you said you wanted me to hear it, from all those different people at Kalawa. And—and I was ashamed; and—and terribly afraid on your account. You had gone to Singapore, first of all for me—so that Chen-shu should know I no longer had the idol, you said. And—and I couldn't let you fight for me any more alone. I was sure that I could help. My brother's official connections made that certain. I knew all the English officers in the service ultimately. I knew they would do much for me, and anything for my brother's sake. And first of all I meant to see that you were not without protection even though you might not know it. But I never got so far as that. I had hardly landed when that note I thought you had written was brought to me, and after that—"

Her voice choked suddenly. "Oh, I do not want to speak of that!"

"Stanch love!" he said brokenly. "Do you remember I said that night on the beach at Aoru that yours would be the most wonderful love in all the world?"

"I remember," her voice was very low. "That was—oh, so long ago!"

There was a sudden sound above their heads—like the scraping of feet that had lost their hold. Bob Kingsley looked up—and, with a low, startled exclamation, made his way hurriedly to the stern. Minder Singh was swaying wearily on the bowsprit's stay. He caught the man in his arms, and lifted him into the boat.

"Row, Sahib," Minder Singh gasped, "for I who am the servant have not the strength."

"Strength, Minder Singh!" Bob exclaimed, as he settled the man's now almost helpless form in the bottom of the boat, and propped the other's back against the stern thwart. "Of course, you haven't! We thought you were dead this afternoon, and no one would have believed at best that you could ever have even stood upon your feet again!" He cast off the line, and returning to his seat, began to pull noiselessly away from the schooner.

There was no sound from the vessel, nothing to indicate that any one aboard had become aware of their escape; neither was there any light aboard—and presently the schooner was lost in the darkness. But there were a few stars, and Bob Kingsley, setting his course thereby, settled down for a long pull to the shore. Verna had returned to the seat forward of his and nearer the bow—Minder Singh, in the bottom of the boat, half sitting, half reclining, faced him from the stern a few feet away.

"You spoke of strength, Minder Singh," Bob Kingsley said abruptly. "I still do not understand, for it is certain that Chen-shu thought he had left you out there in the boat to die."

"Yes, Sahib," Minder Singh answered, "and I, too, thought I was about to die; but Sahib, when my senses returned to me, I lay still in the boat and made no movement, and yet again after the darkness came, and for the length of time that the Sahib knows, I lay there and gathered strength. And so it was, Sahib, that there came back to me such strength as I had had. But it is nearly at an end now, Sahib, and surely I shall die; yet am I content if I may live for but a little longer that my eyes may rest upon that which I desire to see."

"Good Lord!" ejaculated Bob Kingsley heavily. "You mean the treasure? Those are almost Chen-shu's exact words. You can't be as keen on it as all that, Minder Singh!"

"That of which I speak, Sahib," Minder Singh replied in a tone so low that Bob Kingsley could scarcely catch the words, "is of greater worth than treasure."

NEXT SATURDAY IS CIRCUS DAY; GENTRY BROTHERS' SHOWS COMING

The greatest holiday of all, the one day of the year looked forward to by young and old—Circus Day—is almost here. The Gentry Brothers' circus, now on its 40th trans-continental tour, will exhibit in East Liverpool, next Saturday.

This marvel, super show of 10,000 wonders, represents an investment of three quarters of a million dollars; two railroad trains are required to transport it from city to city; three rings and two elevated stages are used in the main tent; 500 people, 300 horses, 400 wild animals from all corners of the world; two herds of performing elephants; 30 acrobats; 60 acrobats; 20 clowns; 60 riders of educated high school horses—these are a few of the attractions with this famous circus founded and operated by the Gentry Bros. since 1887.

The program of the Gentry circus is entirely new this year. Chief among the great aggregation of artists are the Holli troupe, world famed equestrians; the Milo Trio, the world's most sensational gymnasts; the Thesores Family, daring Mexican equilibrist; the Six Nevaros, amazing riders; the Peerless Potters, unrivaled acrobats; the Alvarado Sisters, intrepid aerialists; and more than two hundred other acts representing the best talent obtainable from the five continents of the world.

One of the chief attractions of the Gentry circus, free to the circus-loving public, is the mammoth street parade that passes through the downtown streets at noon. Five bands, two calliope, beautiful tableau wagons, open dens of wild animals, and many other irresistible features are included in this gorgeous spectacle of stupendous pageantry.

Two performances will be given, at 2 and 8 p. m. The doors will open one hour earlier.

Ex-British Premier Predicts Better Days for Nation

GLASGOW.—Better days ahead for Britain were confidently predicted by David Lloyd George, speaking at a big meeting in the city.

"Make no mistake," I am not one of those who say that Britain is done for," he declared. "That is a long way off. It is not in sight."

"Britain has a resolute, resourceful people with many national advantages, and I am not afraid. She has still got the largest maritime trade in the world, and she will retain it so long as she is a free trade country."

The ex-Premier urged a policy of full utilization of national resources.

All railways of Latvia are now owned by the government.

Do You Know What a Woman of 30 Should Weigh?

It all depends on her height of course.

If she is five feet seven inches in height she should weigh according to the best authorities 142 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 5 inches her normal weight is 134 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 3 inches she should weigh 127 pounds.

It's dangerous to be always striving to grow thin—the Adirondack Mountains and health resorts everywhere are filled with health shattered women who will tell you "that it doesn't pay to be too thin."

That is why so many thousands of underweight men and women are putting their faith in McCoy's Tablets.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this booklet guaranteed. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at any drug store in America.

MOTHER OF FIVE FATALLY BURNED

DAYTON, O., May 10.—Mrs. Eliza Fague, 45, mother of five children, was probably fatally burned today when her clothing caught fire as she kindled a fire to cook breakfast.

Earl Buchett, a neighbor, was also seriously burned when he came to her assistance, after hearing Mrs. Fague's screams. Both were taken to a local hospital, where Mrs. Fague's condition was said to be serious. Buchett will recover.

Cute in a Baby—Awful at Three—and it's Dangerous—by Ruth Brittain

Thumb sucking does look sweet in a baby, but it is disgusting in the three-year-old and sometimes it hangs on until fifteen or sixteen! The habit may cause an ill-formed mouth or induce adenoids! and it always interferes with digestion. Plugging the sleeve over the hand; attaching mittens, or putting on cardboard cuffs, which prevent bending the arms at the elbows, are some of the ways to stop the habit.

Another bad habit—irregularity in bowel action—is responsible for weak bowels and constipation in babies. Give the tiny bowels an opportunity to act at regular periods each day. If they don't act at first, a little Fletcher's Castoria will soon regulate them. Every mother should keep a bottle of it handy to use in case of cold, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, loss of sleep, or when baby is cross and feverish. Its gentle influence over baby's system enables him to get full nourishment from his food, helps him gain, strengthens his bowels.

Castoria is purely vegetable and harmless—the recipe is on the wrapper. Physicians have prescribed it for over 20 years. With each package, you get a valuable book on Motherhood. Look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper so you'll get the genuine.
